

IN THE TRENCHES AND OUT OF THEM WITH THE ALLIES AT THE WAR

A "hole in the ground," a sort of "cyclone cellar," is this novel underground abode of modern warriors. Like the mole, the present-day warrior digs himself in and defies the enemy to dislodge him.

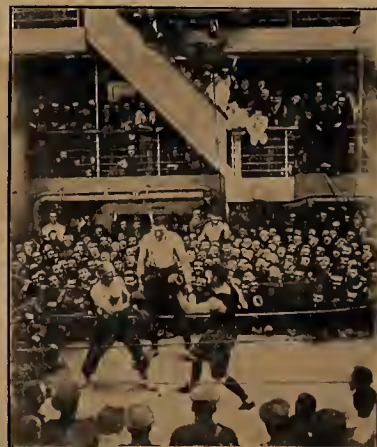

Where activity abounds; the port of Toulon, French base from which men and munitions are despatched to Salonica, is within the danger zone. The picture shows the embarkation of troops for other fields of action.

Italian infantrymen wearing gas masks of the latest model to guard against the frequent gas attacks.

A first line trench on the Yser. The motor car siren is used to call the men from their dugouts whenever the enemy tries a surprise attack.

A friendly boxing match on board a British troopship en route for "Somewhere in France."

A trench company, taken in charge on the Somme front, led by its officers, defiling thru a French village. They will soon be shipped to base internment camps and put to work.

Skulls 2000 years old. The trenches of this battalion run thru the site on ancient Amphipolis and many graves have been cut into. Coins found date back to 10 B.C.

"BLIGHTY" IS NOT ALWAYS UNWELCOME WITH THE MEN AT THE FRONT

On the way to "Blighty." Soldiers wounded in the fight are being sent back amid the cheers of their chums. It is the lucky man who gets "Blighty," they say.

"Blighty" means a great deal to the men at the front, and here is a case—comrades bidding farewell to one of their own going back for a hospital term.

Mrs. Borden Turner, prominent in New York society circles, standing by an ambulance of the "Ambulance Chirurgicale Mobile No. 1," a French Red Cross unit, which Mrs. Turner donated some months ago.

Many of the great ocean liners are being used as hospital ships, and here is a corner of the first cabin salon of the Olympic, now at Salonica, and containing serious cases.

A ward scene in the Edith Cavell Memorial Hospital in Paris. It is a school for nurses, and will be used as a base hospital by the French Red Cross Society.

An interesting scene, showing the evacuation of a field hospital in Flanders in the face of an artillery bombardment. This happens quite frequently, and each time the inmates must be moved to a place of safety.

Victorious and cheerful, tho wounded and tired. A narrow gauge railway line used to take the men from the front trenches to the hospital in the rear.

Army surgeons and wounded soldiers at a first-line hospital within the sound of the battle. Note shell explosion in the centre of the picture.

Roll of honor of the Marine Section Toronto Department of Works. Members who have enlisted for active service.

E. Davis, in hospital with pneumonia.

F. Foulkes, 216th Battalion.

J. Buchanan, 216th Battalion.

A. F. Margerison, in hospital wounded.

J. P. Gardner, 216th Battalion.

A. Smith, 216th Battalion.

L. H. Reid, 208th Battalion.

Signaller J. H. Pearse of 304 Delaware avenue, Toronto (marked with cross), and some of his pals in the 58th Battalion, now in France.

J. W. Stewart of Toronto in a hydro-aeroplane at Miami, Fla. Mr. Stewart left Toronto with the Cuthbert party via special G.T.R. train on Jan. 18.

Gordon W. Simmons, formerly of Chicago Tribune, with 57th Battalion.

Pte. R. Taylor, 92nd Battalion, transferred to 16th.

Millinery Announcement!

Madam Cherry, has returned from New York with a splendid assortment of all the latest American and European millinery, trimmed and untrimmed, at prices to suit every one. Don't forget!

OUR DISPLAY OPENING

ON

THURSDAY, MARCH 1st

and succeeding days

In our Ladies' Tailor-made Department we are well stocked with the latest fashions for spring and summer wear. Expert work guaranteed, perfect fit and complete satisfaction guaranteed.

We have a wide range of latest designs in hats and millinery.

"CHERRY"
894 Bloor St. W., Cor. Ossington Ave.
PHONE COLLEGE 2382.

Pte. Lawson, left, Pte. Hathway, right; Corp. Lawson, sitting, all of the 84th Battalion, France.

Joe J. Cowan, 134th Battalion.

William Cowan, 140th Battalion, in France.

James Cowan, A.M.S., now in France.

Sgt. H. Porter, 126th Battalion, drafted to 104th, in France.

Gunner Alex. Rogers, 63rd Battery in England.

The young women connected with the United Cigar Stores gave a special entertainment recently on behalf of returned soldiers. During the evening this picture was taken.

"The National Smoke"

Why does this cigar enjoy the largest sale of any high-grade cigar in Canada? You'll find the answer in a session with the "Bachelor."

For Your Protection Every "Bachelor" Cigar is Stamped as Above.

RETAIL TRADE SUPPLIED FROM OUR TORONTO WAREHOUSE 18 FRONT ST. W.

Andrew Wilson & Co., Ltd. Toronto and Montreal.

MATINEES
WEDNESDAY
SATURDAY

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

EVENING PRICES
25c - 50c - 75c - $1
BOTH MATINEES
25c NOTHING HIGHER 50c

AL. H. WILSON
—AS—
"TOM CAREY"

A FEAST OF IRISH SONG AND JOLLITY

SIDNEY R. ELLIS PRESENTS THE CELEBRATED CHARACTER COMEDIAN AND SINGER

AL. H. WILSON

— IN HIS NEW PLAY OF THE EMERALD ISLE —

"MY KILLARNEY ROSE"

"MY KILLARNEY ROSE"
"WHERE THE SHAMROCK GROWS"

HEAR
WILSON
SING

"MARY HOULIHAN"
"THE LOVE I GIVE TO YOU"

NEXT WEEK — THE ROLICKING MUSICAL COMEDY "BRINGING UP FATHER IN POLITICS" — A THOUSAND LAUGHS AND THEN SOME MORE — NEXT WEEK

A group of Toronto boys of the 83rd Battalion, now overseas.

Men of the 41st Battery, standing, C. D. Dilworth, H. L. Irwin, Sergt. Ayers, H. C. Campbell; sitting, W. F. Breen, G. Jolley, D. Marsh all.

Three Toronto boys who participated in the third battle of Ypres. From left to right, Corp. Robt. Phyllis, Robbie McKay and Wesley Wilson. They have all been wounded and are in hospital.

Driver H. C. Williams, sitting, and Driver M. Anlons, now at Shorncliffe Camp with the 70th Battery.

Some Toronto boys with the Port Garry Horse in France. Photo forwarded by J. Carruthers marked with X.

Pte. W. R. Ward, on the right, and two chums, members of a supply column.